

Master, Wardens, Assistants and Liverymen

Having spent almost three active, rewarding and most enjoyable years as a member of the Worshipful Company of Management Consultants, I should like to stand for election to the Court of Assistants.

What best represents my reasons for joining the Company is the recent assessment I conducted for Youth Business International of their member organisation in Jamaica. I have been a mentor for The Prince's Trust for about twenty years, but would never have been able to take part in such an inspiring pro bono project on my own. The time I have dedicated to YBI includes delivering a talk on strategy development and facilitating a session on the role of the Board of Trustees at the YBI Global Conference in Mexico in September 2010.

I have been active in other areas too: following my participation in Patrick Lavin's popular course for mentors, I mentored a Director of Teach First for two years. I support Ian Daniell in finding speakers for the Professional Network events. Since being admitted to the Company I have attended, often with guests, all but a handful of Company events.

It is unfortunate that the Company is not better known within the Management Consultancy community and especially amongst younger consultants. I should be interested in looking at ways to increase the profile of the Company and attract younger members. To this end I have developed an outline for a small (but insightful) consultancy reference book that would require the input of as many Company members as possible; that could increase the visibility of the Company in general and that should interest younger consultants. I plan to ask for members' feedback at the next Professional Network meeting. If they feel there is value in the idea, it could be presented to the Court.

I should be honoured to serve as an Assistant on the Court of the Worshipful Company of Management Consultants.
